Item 2.02 Results of Operation and Financial Condition

On July 9, 2019, WSFS Financial Corporation (“WSFS or the “Company”) announced the impact of two events, occurring within the last 30 days, which affected two Commercial and Industrial (“C&I”) relationships which will result in higher levels of provision for loan losses and concurrent charge-offs in 2Q 2019. These two local C&I relationships include (i) a $5.9 million loan to a managed health care facility that was recently placed into receivership by state authorities and (ii) a $5.7 million loan related to a refinery that experienced an isolated event which impacted the facilities operations. Both of these relationships have been classified as nonperforming loans for an extended period and included in WSFS’ disclosure of nonperforming assets in prior periods as WSFS actively worked toward resolution prior to these recent events.

Including the aforementioned C&I relationships, WSFS anticipates elevated net charge-offs totaling between $12 million and $14 million for 2Q 2019. Total credit costs (provision for loan losses, loan workout expenses, OREO expenses and other credit costs), are expected to range between $13 million and $15 million for 2Q 2019, though WSFS has not yet finalized its financial results for 2Q 2019 and therefore the actual amount of net charge-offs and total credit costs could differ from the amounts WSFS anticipates as of this date.

Excluding the impact of these two C&I relationships, WSFS expects overall credit quality metrics to be consistent with recent quarterly trends.
